North Canton Girl Is Spelling Champion

Patty Dolansky of Salem Runner-up In Bee Finals

By Ralph Fratila

Patty Dolansky, 13, Salem Junior High school spelling champion, came out second best in the 12th annual Canton Repository spelling bee won Friday night by Betty Abel, 13, of North Canton.

But if Patty didn't emerge the champion, she at least put up a champion's battle for the title. Her ability to place the correct vowels and consonants in their proper order contributed considerably to making the bee the longest in the history of the series.

THE CONTEST held in Canton Timken School, lasted three and one-half hours and consumed 434 words. The previous record number of words used in a Canton bee was 408.

The Salem student, an eighth grader at Junior High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dolansky, 815 E. 5th St.

Patty and Betty were the last of the 44 spellers remaining after the third place contestant, Judy Taylor, 14, an eighth grader at Washington School in Tuscarawas County, went down on the word "resuscitation."

Betty, a seventh grader at North Canton Charlotte School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Abel Jr. of North Canton, spelled "memoirs" correctly, and Parry spelled "dispersing."

Betty hurdled her next word, "refugee," but Patty mispelled "gibber," beginning the word with a "j" instead of the "g." However, Betty also misspelled the word, in exactly the same way, and the contest continued.

Both girls surmounted their next three words, and then Patty stumbled on "pastoral" by inserting a "u" instead of the "o." Betty correctly spelled the word and the next one, "pitiable," to win.

OF THE SIX OTHER Columbiana County spellers in the contest, the two of the immediate Salem area were the first and the 31st to be eliminated.

Mary Ann Atterholt, 11, sixth grader at Lisbon Lincoln School, unluckily was the first to go down. She misspelled her initial word, "headache," by failing to place an "e" on the end. She is the daughter of Air Force Col. and Mrs. Charles W. Atterholt.

She and her mother reside at RD 5, Lisbon. Her father is on overseas duty in France. At the time, Linda Carlson, 14, United School eighth grader, stumbled on "plain-tive" in the 10th round. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Carlson of RD 3, Salem, she failed to insert the first "i" in the word.

The other county contestants, the order in which they went down and the words they misspelled are:

Kay Hocking, 13, eighth grader at East Liverpool St. Aloysius School, second, "acquaintance."

Kay Eaton, 11, sixth grader at East Liverpool Lincoln School, sixth, "souvenir."

Number of Murder, Assault Cases Down

Study Shows Ohio Crime on Increase

WASHINGTON — Crime in Ohio cities—except for murder and aggravated assault—continued on the increase last year.

A new study by the FBI shows increases in manslaughter by negligence, rape, robbery, burglary, larceny and auto theft in 1957 as compared with 1956.

Bogus Check Passer Faces New Charge

Additional charges of forgery are expected to be filed against Charles Wright, 30, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., as the result of his admission that he signed the name of a local attorney to two fraudulent checks he passed in Salem two weeks ago.

Wright was bound over to the grand jury Thursday after he pleaded guilty to passing bogus checks at People's Drug Store and Mc-Mc-Artor's Drug Store recently.

He is being held under $1,000 bond on each count.

Wright admitted the forgery after being given a lie detector test in Youngstown Friday by Paroleman Robert Baylog of the Youngstown crime laboratory. Previously he stated an accomplice had written the checks.

Wright said he used the name of a local attorney in each of the Ohio communities that he passed bad checks during the last five months. The checks totaled about $1,000.

Walter Knight and Robert Wood of the Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation at London, O., reported Thursday that the names appearing on the bad checks had been written by the same man, Wright.

Wright is being held in city jail pending further identification efforts by other Ohio police authorities.

OK of Jobless Pay Plan Urged Benefits Exhausted By Over Half Million

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor Mitchell says more than 500,000 workers have exhausted their unemployment compensation benefits. He urged speedy enactment of an administration plan for extra payments so these workers . . . may have money to live on."

Mitchell's statement was issued Friday as the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security reported that during the week ended April 12 unemployment among insured workers rose that week to a record 8.1 per cent. Some 43 million workers, about two-thirds of the nation's labor force, are covered by unemployment compensation.

In its overall conclusion for the nation, the FBI report found record totals in every major crime category and said further that a tremendous number of arrests were of young hoodlums under 18.

There was not state breakdown about juvenile crime, but it can safely be assumed that Ohio contributed a substantial share to this category.

"For the crimes against property (robbery, burglary, auto theft and other larcenies)," said the report on the national situation, "young people under 18 represented 53.1 per cent of all arrests."

Increases in these classifications in Ohio were as follows:

Robbery—from 2,452 to 3,092; burglary—from 16,741 to 19,174; larceny - theft—from 58,741 to 64,497.

Jury Finds Dolvin, 30, Guilty of Plaza Robbery

Knowland Planning To Continue Labor Legislation Battle

WASHINGTON — Facing almost certain defeat, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) fought on today in an effort to write far-reaching labor provisions into a bill aimed at regulating employee welfare and pension funds.

He was beaten Friday night in four efforts to put what he called "labor bill of rights" provisions into the relatively nonconventional bill. His amendments were defeated by margins ranging from 16 to 20 votes.

But Knowland, the Republican Senate leader, told newsmen he would offer at least six more amendments today.

First Test of Day

The first test of the day was due to his proposal to bar any discrimination by a labor union against any worker because of race, sex, nationality, religion or age.

The bill under consideration would require reporting and full disclosure on operations of welfare-pension funds. It would provide criminal penalties for any false reporting or boosting of such funds.

Several other senators also planned to add various amendments. And the Eisenhower administration wants its labor proposals considered, too.

But most Senate Democrats and about 10 Republicans backed Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas in opposing any broadening of the welfare-pension fund bill. Sen. Lausche of Ohio was the only Democrat who voted for Knowland for the Knowland amendment.

The Democratic coalition argued that far-reaching labor proposals should not be considered until hearings have been held and until the proposals have been given detailed study in committee.

Democratic leaders promised that hearings will start next month and that broad labor legislation will be brought to the Senate floor in June.

Knowland said consideration of his amendments might be interrupted to permit Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) to offer some of the Eisenhower administration's labor recommendations as proposed additions to the bill.

Sens. Mundt (R-SD) and Curtis (R-Neb) also served notice they planned to call up amendments.

Mikoyan, Moscow's top foreign trade expert, held a closed conference with Adenauer. The subject of their talks was not announced in advance, but diplomatic observers expected it to include Soviet efforts to set up a summit conference and possibly the nuclear armaments question.

Earlier, Mikoyan met briefly with Economic Minister Ludwig Erhard, the prophet of West Germany's free-enterprise postwar boom.

Whatever hopes Mikoyan had of laying the foundation for bigger commercial exchanges between the two nations seemed doomed to disappointment. Economic experts said it already has become obvious there will be difficulty in buying from the Russians all they want to sell under the new agreement.

Mikoyan's statement on nuclear arms added fuel to the nation's hottest dispute: whether West German troops should be armed with atomic weapons.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, a staunch ally of the West, has put his government behind accepting the weapons if the North Atlantic Treaty Organization thinks them necessary for Allied defense. A formal NATO decision that they are has been expected.

This data indicated that the over-all unemployment total for April probably will be close to the 5,200,000 level of March. Normally at this time of the year unemployment drops sharply as outdoor work picks up.

The Labor Department report also showed that during the week ended April 19 the number of newly laid off workers claiming jobless benefits declined by 15,400 to 446,400. This is a smaller-than-usual decline for this season.

Boardman Thief Sentenced to 20 Years In Prison

Stay of Execution Of Sentence Granted Pending Court Move

Glenn Dolvin, 30, was found guilty with mercy of the $30,880 robbery of the Boardman Plaza branch of the Mahoning National Bank Aug. 16 by a Common Pleas jury of 11 women and one man late Friday.

"All I can say is I didn't do that," was Dolvin's only comment as Judge John W. Ford sentenced him to not less than 20 years in Ohio Penitentiary. A straight guilty verdict would have carried a life sentence.

Judge Ford granted a stay of execution of the sentence pending filing of a possible appeal.

The jury went out at 9:45 a.m., stayed on the job during the lunch hour and reported at 4:45 p.m.

Dolvin in January was sentenced to 10 to 25 years by Common Pleas Judge David G. Jenkins on a charge of armed robbery of the J. C. Penney Co. Boardman Branch. This case is in the Court of Appeals.

Dolvin was arrested in San Diego a month ago with $18,758 in his possession. He was headed for the Mexican border. The policeman who arrested Dolvin said he offered him all the money if the officer would let him go.

In Youngstown court Friday afternoon was a suit by the Commercial Insurance Co. of Newark, N. J., against Dolvin and Prosecutor Thomas A. Beil.

The firm is claiming the $18,758 found on Dolvin in California. It insured the Mahoning National Bank and says it paid out $30,880 to the bank to cover the holdup loss.

Five thousand paratroopers were on hand for the assault.

Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, commander of the 101st Airborne Division, had planned to lead the assault by jumping 20 minutes ahead of his men to test the wind and weather.

Five men of the 101st were killed and 155 were injured when they were caught in capricious ground-level winds Wednesday.

On hand for the preliminary jump into the Sukchon drop zone with Westmoreland were Capt. Stillman E. Mazeltine of Custer, S.D., his aide, and Capt. Jack Becker of Lakeshore, Miss., a staff officer.

The jump, set for 5:10 a.m. EST was postponed shortly after daybreak.

Nearly 1,400 men of the division's 502nd Battle Group, acting as the invading enemy, flew in from Scott Air Force Base, Ill., and Stewart Air Force Base, Tenn., for the Wednesday jump.

Most of the casualties occurred in the rough terrain of the Sukchon zone, one of many in the remote areas of this sprawling military reservation on the Kentucky-Tennessee line where the current war games are being conducted.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko charged in Moscow April 18 that Arctic flights toward Russia of U.S. bombers with nuclear weapons were provocative and might touch off World War III. A Soviet resolution presented in the Security Council last Monday asked Washington to stop the flights.

American officials denied there was any provocation in its system of practice alerts for bombers and training flights over the Arctic.

After a six-hour Security Council debate in which Russia failed to win any support for its resolution, Soviet Delegate Arkady Sobolev withdrew it. The Soviet complaint remains on the Council agenda.

American officials denied there was any provocation in its system of practice alerts for bombers and training flights over the Arctic.

Wizikowski said the home was occupied by Mrs. Anna Williams, her four daughters and their children. He identified the dead as Marvin, 11 months; Terena, 1; Alphonse, 11; Rosetta, 8, and Sherod, 8 months.

LISBON — C. W. Smith, 19, of Warren, formerly of Rogers Rd., was sentenced to one to 15 years in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield on four counts of breaking and entering by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard Friday afternoon. He will serve the terms concurrently.

Smith was given probation March 14 for burglarizing Jack and Red's Tavern on Rd. 30 at its junction with the Y & O Road twice; Beaver Local School and Elton School.

He was brought in as a probation violator by Richard Rose, chief probation officer, who suspected him of forging a check. Smith then admitted four auto thefts in Warren this month and also cashing the forged check at a local bank.

Ohio Railroads Granted 3% Rate Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Utilities Commission today granted all freight railroads in Ohio a three per cent rate increase, subject to possible change later on.

The action was in line with a rate increase granted on interstate shipments by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The increase is on a selected list of commodities and averages out to about three per cent. Major increases were the 10 cents per ton hike on coal and 15 cents per ton on coke.

The higher ICC rates are subject to change, pending an investigation. The higher Ohio rates also are subject to change if they are found to be too high.

The new rates will go into effect as soon as new tariffs can be filed, probably within a few days.

Major coal users and producers protested the coal rate request and contended the commission could not approve an increase subject to a possible refund later on. But the commission decided otherwise.

During hearings in February, the Toledo Board of Trade and the railroads reached an agreement to allow higher rates to go into effect on grain and grain products, subject to an investigation of their validity.

Twice last year the commission authorized higher freight rates for shipments within Ohio, seven per cent on Jan. 31 and 14 per cent on Oct. 25.

The commission last year also permitted seven railroads to increase their basic passenger fares.

Construction Bright Spot In Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — An increasing number of U. S. businessmen seemed to be placing their bets this week on the chance of an upturn in the not too distant future. Construction loomed as one of the brighter spots.

Homebuilders welcomed the prospect of a more abundant flow of mortgage money at lower interest rates. These seeking silver linings behind every recessionary cloud could point to the fact that the business slowdown has forced some marginal and inefficient contractors out of the housing field.

The United States Savings & Loan League reported that building costs are heading downward for the first time since World War II.

On the industrial front a welcome increase in new orders was reported by some producers of machine tools, electrical equipment, chemicals, aluminum, copper and steel.

In some instances the flow of incoming business was barely enough to keep pace with sharply curtailed production. But even this was an improvement over the crippling sluggishness that had gripped the nation's industrial machine in January, February and March.

By and large, industrial production was still coasting this week. Auto output (estimated at less than 60,000 cars) touched a six-year low. Steel production was the lowest for any strike-free week since the summer of 1949. Soft coal output moved up slightly but was nearly 31 per cent below a year ago.

What Would We Do Without Russia

On Capitol Hill in Washington, the rush to be first in space has crowded the rush to be second in an earth orbit out of the news. Representatives and senators finally have found a popular cause that trumps on no toes and goes no oxes. Every American worth his salt wants his country to be first in space.

Or to state what every American wants in a somewhat different way, he wants his country to make certain the Russians are not first in space, because they were first earth-orbiting — and that was one first too many.

It is getting to be a question what the United States would do without Russia, to goad it forever onward, upward and outward. The same urge that made Russians delve into historic obscurities to prove they always had been first in everything, even though they were given no credit, now makes Americans delve into their resources to prove they do not have to be second in anything.

If Russia has more airplane of Type PZQ than the United States has, something will have to be done about it.

If it is said to have more submarines than the United States has, this country will have to build enough submarines to be sure it has outnumbered the outside estimate of Russia's underwater fleet.

If Russian school kids are reported to be cramming on mathematics and scientific subjects, every American school kid with an IQ in three digits must knuckle down and

Pride of Craftsmanship Still Here

Brand Names Foundation, which will be directing public attention the next few days to the importance of buying products with familiar brand names on them, would do well to review the old-fashioned concept of craftsmanship to explain what it is doing.

A silversmith named Revere created a brand name, in the sense of doing his work so well that his name commanded confidence.

The early clockmakers, gunsmiths, cabinet makers and inventors had no way to win acceptance for their work, except to do it so well that people had confidence in them. Their craftsmanship was the beginning of today's marketing structure in which familiar names are the main supports of consumer confidence.

The day of the individual craftsman has passed, except in the higher arts of painting, sculpture and music. The individual craftsman has been supplanted by the composite craftsman — the manufacturing concern that has maintained high standards so consistently that its products command confidence. Without these main supports of consumer confidence to guide them, consumers would buy blind. They would have no standard of comparison, other than what they could learn by comparing one thing with another.

Eventually, the good things would win favor and the bad ones would be rejected. More and more people would learn who made the good things — and that would be some confidence in brand names. There is nothing

Aid For College Students

The way to college will be smoothed for an additional thousand or more bright high school students as the result of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation competition. The exams are being given this year in the spring instead of the fall for the first time, so that an early start can be made in the search for gifted students who might otherwise not go to college. The tests will be given to second-term juniors or first-term seniors.

This will be the fourth crop, so to speak, for the non-profit corporation. Merit scholarships were awarded to 556 pre-college students in 1956 and to 336 others in 1957.

This year the corporation is offering a thousand more scholarships. Some 7,200 of the 1957-58 finalists were given examinations in January; the winners are to be announced May 1.

Jobless Pay Plans

By JAMES MARLOW

What's an unemployment dole? While Democrats and Republicans argue about it, one thing is certain: the present unemployment pay system is inadequate.

This recession proves it. So does the agreement by Democrats and Republicans to do something about it. But what they propose is a temporary cure. The end result may be some permanent improvements in the system.

House Democrats have come up with a plan which would provide government money outright, a gift, to extend unemployment pay not only to the jobless people who've used what they're entitled to under state laws, but also to many never eligible under the present system. President Eisenhower Wednesday called that a "dole . . . nothing else."

Under Eisenhower's own proposal to extend expired benefits, the money from the government would be a loan to the states, to be repaid in cash or higher taxes.

This is the background: THIS COUNTRY — WHICH had lagged far behind Europe in providing some kind of pay for people who lost their jobs through no fault of their own — began its unemployment insurance system in 1935. It was upheld by the Supreme Court in 1937.

It works this way: employers in all states—and employees, too, in a few states—are taxed. A fraction of the tax goes to the federal government. The rest goes into the individual states' funds.

The states then use this money to give weekly payment to workers who lose their jobs. The amount each unemployed worker gets, and how long he gets it, varies from state to state. For example:

Payments range from a minimum of $3 a week in Mississippi to a maximum of $45 in Alaska and from a minimum of 16 weeks in Florida to 30 weeks in Pennsylvania. Thirty-one states have a maximum of 26 weeks.

Repeatedly, before this recession hit, Eisenhower asked the states to provide unemployment pay for 39 weeks everywhere. He was ignored. About 34 million workers are covered by the system if they lose their jobs.

BUT MILLIONS OF workers are not covered and therefore can draw no unemployment benefits if they lose their jobs. For example: farm workers, the self-employed, domestics, ad employees of non-profit organizations.

Right now there are about 5,200,000 people out of jobs. Many thousands of them have exhausted all the unemployment pay due them. Perhaps as many as 2,100,000 more are not covered and are ineligible for unemployment pay.

The Democratic plan would cover most of them too. Eisenhower's wouldn't.

This is what Eisenhower proposes to do about it:

Congress should vote 600 million dollars to be given the states as a loan to extend — for those jobless workers who have used up all their benefits—their unemployment pay for half as long again as their state law allows. That would mean another 13 weeks at the same rate in a state with a maximum of 26 weeks of payments.

Democrats on the House Ways and Means Committee approved a bill—which means nothing unless passed by the full House and Senate—to extend jobless pay for 16 weeks in all states.

They figure the cost to the federal government would be more than twice what Eisenhower asked — or $1,575,000,000—but the money would be a gift to the states, and not a loan, and therefore wouldn't have to be repaid.

The states then use this money to give weekly payment to workers who lose their jobs. The amount each unemployed worker gets, and how long he gets it, varies from state to state. For example:

Intimidated Congress

Union Money Blocking Enactment of Labor Laws

The story of the year is being unfolded right now in Congress.

It's the story of how labor union money — contributed heavily in recent political campaigns — keeps a majority of members of Congress from enacting laws that would do away with the rackets whereby the dues of the workingmen are stolen or misused. It's the story also of how Congress, though knowing full well how boycotts of innocent parties are used to further the aims of labor unions, does nothing by way of legislation to correct the abuses.

At first it was reported that there wouldn't be a chance for action. Sen. Knowland, however, determined to attach his proposals to the pending legislation on labor union welfare and pension funds.

Plenty of outcries are heard when "civil rights" are denied in other fields of constitutional law but no such support is given the simple proposition that the American citizen must be free to join or not to join a union and, if he declines, he must not for such reason alone be deprived of his job.

Today, in certain trades, a citizen cannot earn a livelihood unless he consents to become, against his will, a member of a labor union which can use his dues money to finance the election of candidates for public office with whose views the worker happens not to agree. Here is "thought control" and a denial of the basic principles embodied in the Constitution itself.

TODAY TO CROSS a picket line in a big strike is to jeopardize one's life. Local police authorities are intimidated by the political power of labor unions and do not give adequate protection to the citizen. Companies that are not parties to a strike are sometimes boycotted if they buy materials or goods from a company that is having a labor dispute.

Financial irregularities have been disclosed in about five major unions. Many of the other big unions have not been investigated as yet. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) has thrown the searchlight on the misuse of union funds. The newspapers have been printing articles about it for several months. Now, however, the time has

First Pleasant Signs

By SAM DAWSON

A few first signs that the industrial slump may be flattening out are sighted today amid the welter of unpleasant statistics on the record past.

They are too scattered to foretell a turning in the trend but businessmen are watching them closely. And more company executives are coming forth with predictions that after some months of bumping along at the bottom of the slump the turn for the better will be apparent in the final months of this year and the upswing in industrial activity will be marked in the first half of 1959.

Here are some of the first signs of a change, as cautiously reported by business executive:

New orders for machine tools have risen in each of the last three months. Although these are far behind the volume a year ago, the National Machine Tool Builders Assn. notes that in past recessions rising machine tool sales have led the way to recovery in the capital goods industry.

A gain in new orders of late is also reported by Ralph J. Cordner, chairman of General Electric, who thinks this may herald an upturn in durable goods demand.

A similar rise in sales in recent years is noted by Crawford H. Greenewalt, president of Du Pont, who cautiously offers it as a sign that the chemical industry may be ready for a rebound.

These reports in themselves do not spell a return of boom times.

But they do show that everything isn't as bad as some people paint it.

'One-Eyed' Drivers

Today, with millions of automobiles on our highways, our nation is alarmed at the traffic death caused by carelessness.

It is true that a lot of us are safety-conscious but yet we overlook such important items as adequate headlights. The driver with only one headlight burning on his car is just as dangerous as the speeder. Law requires that automobiles be properly lighted, front and back, but stand on any street corner at night and observe the cars with only one headlight and some a tail light or none at all.

I understand the Junior Chamber and the UCT are planning an automobile safety program. Let's give them our utmost cooperation.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Power to Meet Responsibilities

Robert G. LeTourneau, a notable industrialist and manufacturer of earth-moving machinery, has devoted his wealth and time to the service of God and the good of his fellowmen.

During World War II, LeTourneau received an order from the government for a complicated larger machine to lift airplanes. No machine quite like it had ever been designed, so I understand.

The way I heard the story it seems that LeTourneau and his engineers went to work on the problem, but it baffled them. After working for several days it became more and more apparent that they weren't getting anywhere and everyone became tense.

It was Wednesday night; and in the midst of their work, LeTourneau suddenly announced: "Well boys, I'm knocking off. I'm going to prayer meeting."

"Why," they said, "you can't do that, boss. We've got a deadline to meet on this job."

"But," he answered, "I've got a deadline with God."

LETOURNEAU WENT to that prayer meeting, meanwhile putting the problem of the machine out of mind. He entered into the creative fellowship of the hour of worship. He sang hymns. He prayed. He got himself into harmony with God.

After the prayer meeting, according to the story, while on his way home, suddenly in his mind, complete in every major detail, he saw the correct design of the machine on which they had been working. Of course the answer he had sought was in his mind all along, but it had needed the creative stimulation of the atmosphere developed in that prayer meeting to bring it forth.

THIS INCIDENT illustrates a valuable formula for meeting deadlines or responsibilities which require creative ideas. From the experience just described it appears that: (1) you must have knowledge and experience. (2) Give the problem all you've got of intensive thought and study. (3) Don't press the mind to the point of over-stress, else it will tighten up and ideas will stop coming through. (4) Relax mind and body to keep creative processes fluid. (5) Pray and worship to bring yourself in harmony with the Great Mind from which all worthwhile insights come.

So don't get too agitated about your own responsibilities! Don't try so hard to force ideas! Relax and pray for real insights. Whatever the problem, drop it confidently into the deep well of unconscious cerebration. Say to yourself: "I am a child of God and therefore, am able to handle this responsibility."

THIS PROBLEM, difficult though it is, is part of human experience and so there is an answer to it. Affirm confidence in God and in His power to help me. I wait in the expectation of receiving God's answer. I can think my way through my problem with His help. I will relax in God's creative quietness knowing that the right answer will come through.

You do not necessarily need to attend a prayer meeting, as did Mr. LeTourneau, to succeed in problem solving. Church services can be of great help in nurturing and developing ideas, but you can also find your answers in quiet meditation and private prayer and Bible reading.

Incidentally, there are increasing numbers of businesses today in which the day's work is begun with a period of prayer. Where this is made a part of the business day, employers and employees alike declare that such spiritual emphasis in business is extraordinarily helpful. It gets a tone of understanding and good will. As one employee put it: "Things always go better when you've got better people working better together."

A FEW LINES BACK I used the phrase, "the deep well of unconscious cerebration." It refers to that depth in your mind where God presides, where true answers lie waiting to be summoned forth through Divine guidance. The phrase was first used by the earliest of American psychologists, the

Graham to Launch Six-Week Campaign

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham arrives today to launch a six-week crusade in the San Francisco Cow Palace Sunday.

This evening, after a full day of conferences, he will hold dedication services at the Cow Palace for 6,000 crusade workers.

Thus Graham aims to impress upon all who come that the 16,500-seat arena — famed for livestock exhibits, sports events and political meetings — has been transformed temporarily into a church.

Billboards, posters, automobile stickers, bus cards and radio and television announcements herald the evangelist's coming.

A corps of 4,000 counselors, 2,000 ushers, 3,000 vocalists and hundreds of other volunteer workers have been training for weeks.

NOBODY MADE A NICKEL

Too many pressing responsibilities in the Lord's work. The congregation couldn't afford to have its church painted.

But painted it was!

That was a glorious Saturday — no picnic or ball games, just hours of hard work. And what with the paint supplied at cost by a local dealer, and the brushes loaned by the very painter who might have hoped for the contract — nobody made a nickel!

But the remarkable thing is that nobody in town thought all this remarkable...

You know Christianity has had a deep influence on the life of a community when we begin to take for granted the zeal and sacrifice of Christian neighbors. The next step is to add our strength and faith to theirs in the worship and work of the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Thinking of his future?

We can help you make a better one for him.

He's just a boy now... but how time flies! Soon he'll be through with school and up against a highly competitive business world. Will he be ready?

Nothing can take the place of the training he receives at home, in church and school. But you can add to it.

Think how important it is to him to develop initiative, personality, and self-confidence... to learn to shoulder responsibility, to work with other people and to handle money. There are men in our circulation department who make a career of developing these qualities in boys, and training them in the basic principles of business... service, sales, and collections.

This training, coupled with the experience of managing a route of his own and the satisfaction of earning his own money, will do wonders for your boy.

If he's old enough (12 or older), have him contact the circulation department and apply for a route. His application will be carefully considered for the first opening in his area.

You'll glow with pride when he says, "Dad, I'm in business now."

Beverly Gluckner Becomes Bride of Joseph Maurice Billet

Bouquets of white carnations and pink snapdragons graced the altar in St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Leetonia for the nuptial Mass this morning which united in marriage Miss Beverly Gluckner and Joseph Maurice Billet.

The Rev. Fr. Warren Braun performed the double ring ceremony at 9 a.m. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gluckner of Leetonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Billet of Leetonia are the bridegroom's parents.

Alencon lace and tulle fashioned the bride's gown. The elongated bodice, scattered with sequins, was styled with a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. Front and back panels of lace extended to the hemline of the four-tail tulle skirt.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was gathered to a lace cap trimmed with seed pearls and sequins. White carnations formed her bridal bouquet.

Miss Patricia Rouse of Leetonia was the bride's maid of honor. She was attired in a ballerina-length gown of poudre blue taffeta, designed with a softly sculptured bodice and side draped bell skirt. A matching tulle picture hat with a flower crown completed her attire. She carried a basket of pink carnations.

sented the report of the publicity committee. Clifford Beck described the function of the resources committee.

Mrs. Harry Loria gave a message on stewardship. She pointed out that for the advance pledges committee, it was important that they not be asking others to do what they are not willing to do themselves. She cited paths of service in which members of this committee have served in the local church.

A special guest, Mrs. Wilbur Spaulding of Alliance, sang two solos, "Teach Me to Live" and "Hear the Good News," accompanied by Mrs. Walter Hunston.

The Pocono Mountains is the honeymoon destination of the couple. For traveling, the bride selected a navy blue linen suit with white accessories. On their return, they will reside at McKeefrey St., Leetonia.

One hundred and fifty persons attended the Wednesday night meeting in Fellowship Hall.

The Rev. William C. Snowball opened the meeting with prayer, and introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Albert M. Penneybacker, pastor of the Central Christian Church of Youngstown.

Clifford Beck, co-chairman of the campaign, presided and explained the type of program chosen for this year's campaign and the reasons for it. He cited the fact that from personal experience, anyone who helps in a campaign of this sort becomes more interested in his church and consequently becomes of more service but in turn gets more out of being a church member.

Thomas Howett, proposal chairman, outlined the needs of the church and Christ's Kingdom and explained that 65 church groups and individuals were represented in the work of his committee. Fifty different proposals were suggested and carefully considered and the most preferred and most essential were the items finally included in the proposed budget for the coming year.

Russell Hackett, co-chairman of the resources committee, explained the work of his committee and the method used in discovering the potential of the church in leaders, workers and suggested giving ability.

Homer Taylor, co-chairman of publicity, stressed the fact that people do not automatically give in proportion to their means, but according to their understanding of the needs. This committee is responsible for publicizing every aspect of the campaign, securing supplies, handling correspondence, and assuring attendance at meetings.

Orders Changed by McElroy For Top-Ranking Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McElroy has served notice that generals and admirals who don't work for military unity may as well forget about extra stars and choice assignments.

McElroy ordered yesterday that all future recommendations for promotion of officers to three and four star rank be submitted to him rather than directly to the President. This directive also would apply to assignment of officers in those ranks.

The order, another move aimed at curbing interservice rivalries is part of President Eisenhower's defense reorganization plan. That particular provision, however,

Rogers

The Rogers Ruritan Club held their April meeting in the basement of the Methodist Church Monday evening.

Cork is the outer layer of bark of an evergreen oak tree growing mainly near the Mediterranean Sea. The bark is usually first stripped when the tree is about 15 to 20 years old. Nine years later another stripping is taken. Later stripings, made at intervals of 8 to 10 years for 150 years, are of a finer quality than the first two which are coarse and rough.

The Jokers Club was entertained by Mrs. Paul Buttermore Wednesday.

Mrs. Carl Fultz won the card game and lunch was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Robert Buttermore will entertain the group in May.

The Navy's Polaris, which recently underwent preliminary trial firing at Sunnyvale, Calif., and Cape Canaveral, Fla., could become the most formidable weapon in the U.S. arsenal if it lives up to all of the Navy's claims. Fired from a hidden spot, deep in the ocean, the 1,500-mile Polaris ballistic-missile could be shot to all of the surface and hurtled through space at tremendous speeds. In case of an enemy attack, atomic-powered submarines (sketch above) armed with Polaris missiles having atomic warheads could strike a devastating retaliatory blow from anywhere in the vast expanse of ocean that covers three-fourths of the earth's surface. The Polaris, a solid fuel rocket, is believed to be about 28.5 feet long and 4.5 feet in diameter. Its navigational equipment is reportedly capable of pinpointing a target 1,500 miles from its launching site. The hard to detect, mobile launching sites make defense against Polaris almost impossible.

Hike in Axle Mile Tax Payments Reported

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Dept. of Agri. cash grain prices: No 2 red wheat mostly unchanged, 2.00-2.07, mostly 2.00-2.05; No 2 yellow ear corn mostly unchanged, 1.22-1.30 per bu, mostly 1.25; or 1.74-1.86 per 100 lbs, mostly 1.78; No 2 oats mostly unchanged, 61-.75, mostly .70; No 1 soybeans mostly unchanged to one cent lower, 2.13-2.19, mostly 2.14-2.16.

State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy released figures Friday.

Returns from operators of trucks with three or more axles reach almost 12 million dollars for the state's bookkeeping year that started last July 1.

Treasury estimated that a clean-up of late payments beyond the April 20 deadline for quarterly reports might boost collections to 12½ million dollars.

The increase in revenues, still under the original estimate of 19½ million dollars, was attributed to better enforcement of the axle tax law and the general acceptance by the trucking industry of court decisions upholding validity of the statute, Tracy said.

The treasurer estimated, however, that about eight million dollars in unpaid taxes is being held by trucking concerns pending final outcome of litigation over payments of the statue, Tracy said.

Four Records Broken In Drake Relays

DES MOINES (AP) — The Drake Relays, off to a fast start with four records, including two under American collegiate marks, needed seven more today to top its all-time production in a single meet.

There was every possibility that the goal would be reached in the windup of the 49th annual track and field carnival. The Drake high came last year when 10 records were set.

Drawing major attention again was Alex Henderson, 25-year-old Australian who runs for Arizona State of Tempe.

Alex ripped off an 8:51.3 in the two miles Friday, going under the recognized American collegiate mark of 8:55. Later he did an unofficial 4:11.4 anchor mile as Arizona State posted a Drake record of 10:02.1 in the college distance medley.

Henderson was entered today in the college mile run and was down for another duty on the two mile relay team.

Cliff Cushman of Kansas was the other athlete to better an American record Friday. He edged defending champion Gene O'Connor of Kansas State in the 440-yard hurdles.

Al Orter of Kansas contributed the fourth record with a discus toss of 183 feet, 7 1/2 inches, wiping out his own mark of 177-10.

Yankees Bow To Orioles 2-1

Senators Tally 2-0 Win Over Red Sox

By The Associated Press Well whaddya know! Those New York Yankees ain't perfect after all. And Gene Woodling should find things a bit more pleasant in Baltimore from now on.

Woodling, the ex-Yankee who was booted out of Baltimore three seasons ago, was traded to Cleveland, and now is back with the Orioles, improved public relations immensely Friday night. It was his pinch-hit, two-out, two-strike double in the ninth that turned a shutout into a 2-1 victory.

Friday's was the second consecutive game in which the defending American League champs blew a lead in the ninth. It was shortstop Gil McDougald who made the boots in both losses.

Friday night, he bobbed a lead-shortstop Gil McDougald who made the boots in both losses.

Friday night, he bobbed a lead-grounder by Dick Williams in the ninth. A fielder's choice, a walk to fleet Jim Busby and Woodling's Yankee style clutch hit broke up a wonderful duel between right-hander Connie Johnson of the Orioles and Whitey Ford, the Yankees stubby southpaw.

Both finished with five-hitters, with Ford striking out eight and Johnson six. Both now are 1-1.

The Washington Senators moved into second, a game behind the Yankees, on Pete Ramos' six-hit, 2-0 victory at Boston. The Chicago White Sox escaped the cellar and dropped Kansas City to a close third by beating the A's 6-5 in 12. Cleveland smacked Detroit 12-2.

Purdue came from behind a 6-0 deficit and capitalized on six Wisconsin errors for its victory. Ron Perranoski overcame an early rash of wildness to hurl Michigan State to an opening game victory against arch rival Michigan.

Ray Narleski, given a 10-1 lead after four innings, pitched a neat six-hitter. Harvey Kuenn doubled twice for the Tigers, driving in one run and setting up the other.

The Indians blasted four Detroit pitchers for 13 hits in amassing their highest run total in a long time. It was Cleveland's third straight victory and the season's first night game crowd at chilly Municipal Stadium enjoyed every minute of it.

Vernon Hits Bases-Loaded Homer

Detroit Blasted By Cleveland 12-2

CLEVELAND (AP) — When Vic Wertz broke his ankle early in spring training, the Cleveland Indians were shrouded in gloom, afraid they would never be able to replace the slugging first baseman's big bat.

Soon after the season started, Manager Bobby Bragan added another first baseman by converting outfielder Rocky Colavito.

Between the three, they have collected 25 hits in 54 trips for a gaudy .463 batting average.

Of course, it's a little too early to tell if the cinderella arrangement will turn into a pumpkin. But, so far Bragan looks like a genius.

Colavito, with 10 hits in 22 trips, is leading the American League batting lists with a .455 average.

Northwestern (AP) — Big Ten baseball champions opened the conference season Friday with a 15-3 victory over Illinois behind the four-hitter pitching of Tom Scheuerman.

Indiana dropped Minnesota, 3-1; Ohio State defeated Iowa, 7-3; Purdue nipped Wisconsin, 9-8, and Michigan State tripped Michigan, 4-2.

Bob Lawrence's two-run single in the eighth inning broke up a 1-1 tie and led Indiana to victory. Bill Smith held Minnesota to seven scattered hits.

Ohio State had little trouble with Iowa. Sophomore righthander Dale Denny went the distance for the Buckeyes on a yield of seven hits in the first four innings. He struck out 10 Hawkeyes, seven in the third, and had eight errors and had four passed balls.

Purdue came from behind a 6-0 deficit and capitalized on six Wisconsin errors for its victory. Ron Perranoski overcame an early rash of wildness to hurl Michigan State to an opening game victory against arch rival Michigan.

Giants Tally 2-0 Victory Over Cubs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Transplanted from New York to San Francisco, the baseball Giants have surprised fans by taking the first place perch few expected them to see.

Ask Manager Bill Rigney how it came about and he answers with a single word—balance.

Make it balance between offense and defense or between veterans and rookies—it adds up to a better looking club today than the one that finished sixth in the National League last season.

The Wildcats, anchored by Olympic champion Ron Delany, shattered their own two-year-old mark of 9-58 with a 9-55.3 clocking in the only major relay championship decided Friday. It was Villanova's third straight win in this event.

Today Villanova goes after the one-mile title and the sprint medley title. Never in the carnival's 64-year-history has any college ever won the three middle distance relays three or more years in succession.

to Stan Musial of St. Louis. The Giants' Willie Mays holds the No. 9 spot with .395.

Rookie third baseman Jim Davenport, hitless Friday night, still holds a creditable .348 average, and as a team the Giants are above .300.

Villanova Collects Medley Relay Title

races it has won three years in a row in an effort to accomplish what has never been done before at the gigantic Penn Relays carnival.

Tolson urged all interested persons to be present.

Paul Walker Seeking Post At Ohio State

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (UPI)—Paul Walker is making no bones about it.

He'd love to land the basketball coaching job at Ohio State University vacated this week by Floyd Stahl.

But Walker emphatically denied that he had "promised" to take Jerry Lucas, the fabulous Middie star, with him if he were hired for the Columbus job.

Walker fired off a special delivery letter to Columbus Thursday after it was announced that Stahl, Buckeye cage coach for eight years, was retiring.

The Middlestadt high coach, winner of five state championships since 1947, said the letter was a straight application for the job. The letter made no mention of Lucas.

"I merely applied on my record and what I've done since I've been coaching in Ohio," Walker declared Friday.

In the bullaboo following Stahl's announced retirement, Walker was credited with some strange quotations.

One radio station was saying Friday that Walker had "promised" to take Lucas with him to Columbus if he landed the job.

A newspaper attributed this to the Middlestadt coach: "I think I could get any boy in the state of Ohio if I got the job."

Walker added the key words to that one Friday: "I think my application will have the support of a lot of high school coaches around the state, and I believe they would help me if I were hired to attract almost any top basketball star in the state to the Ohio State campus."

At no time, Walker emphasized, has he used Lucas as a lure for any potential coaching job. He said his Ohio State application was the first direct application he has made.

"I feel I have a better chance than anybody to get Jerry Lucas if I should get a college coaching job, but there is no guarantee," he said.

Walker, 47 last Thursday, has a 12-year record at Middletown of 248 wins against 40 losses.

Walker also said:

"My application is in. From now on, until a new coach is chosen, I'll say nothing."
